CINDY SCINTO has been featured in many newspaper articles, on NBC news shows, and her story is chronicled and reported on numerous Websites and in publications across the country. Her college degree in journalism and frequent writing contributions for various publications such as local and national newspapers, and ministry newsletters, gives her a well-balanced understanding and marketability edge in the writing arena.

Awards earned include The Donna Goodrich Award presented by the American Christian Writer's and The Roaring Lamb Award presented by the Amy Foundation.

Cindy is as comfortable in front of a camera and microphone, as speaking for various types of venues has afforded her ample experience.

Married with a son attending college, she is also an active advocate for the American Heart Association's Go Red for Women campaign and The Living Legacy's Donate Life program on organ donation awareness. Her website address is www.cindyscinto.com.
